PUNKAPOCALYPTIC
THE GAME

The most successful cult around the Scrapbridge area is that of the Black Blood, a congregation that gathers in and maintains an oil refinery in almost perfect working condition and has turned it into a heavily armoured and protected settlement. They worship oil with an unsettling reverence bestowed upon them by the strange deity Tex'co. They don't trade with the clack blood they extract from beneath the ground, as only the cult members are worthy of its blessing. Although they sometimes tried in the past to carry the word of Tex'co to other settlements to get new followers, their politics were not aggressive. That doesn't mean that they were not fit to fight, as they were well aware that almost any other rival gang would do anything to get their oil and they had to protect it at all costs. But the attack on their home has changed that. Now they live in constant paranoia and think the rest of the world wants to steal their resources, so they fight anyone anytime and even make "preventive attacks".

This box contain: Ash (pistol), Burnt (light blade), Ember (flametrower and biohazard protection), Ember (shotgun) and Flamekeeper.

El culto más famoso en la zona de Puentecharra es el de la Sangre Negra, una congregación que conserva un pozo petrolífero en perfecto estado en un asentamiento fuertemente blindado. Veneran el petróleo como una fuerza casi mística que provee Tex'co, una especie de deidad. No comercian de ninguna manera con todo lo que extraen del subsuelo, ya que sólo los miembros del culto son dignos de usar sus bendiciones. Si bien a veces solían intentar llevar su palabra por los asentamientos, para conseguir nuevos feligreses, no seguían una política agresiva. Lo que no significa que no estuvieran bien entrenados para el combate, pues eran conscientes de que cualquier banda mataría por conseguir su combustible y tenían que saber defenderse. Sin embargo, el ataque a su asentamiento ha cambiado esto. Han entrado en un estado de paranoia total por el que creen que el resto de facciones quiere robar sus recursos, y no dudan en entrar en combate con quien sea, incluso realizando "ataques preventivos".
